

Åldersbäck

A tight little cluster of blocs and walls just outside town, close to Rödaväggen — close enough that you've got no excuse not to go. Most of the problems were cooked up by Stefan Rasmussen, who clearly understands what good climbing should be about, clean enough and fun as hell. Easy access, decent landings, and a spicy spread of problems in the 7s. Bring pads. Bring skin. Leave excuses at home 🤘 The problems are stupidly fun, the rock is properly good, and no — this is not that mixed-bag stone you get at Vø. Different rock. Different movement. Same dirtbag smile when you stick the top. Climb. Fall. Repeat. Enjoy.

First boulder is at road so no gps koordinats, No 3 problem is located
